

Two to Tango in Style

Written by Jenny Kerr

Saturday, 12 January 2013 00:00 - Last Updated Sunday, 13 January 2013 20:50

Day three dawned; a glorious night of Tango-inspired fun waited to be discovered.

Two to Tango in Style

Written by Jenny Kerr

Saturday, 12 January 2013 00:00 - Last Updated Sunday, 13 January 2013 20:50

But this morning's schedule was low-key and consisted of various stages of relaxation. After sleeping in, I spent some time poolside to soak up some rays and read a magazine. At noon, I took advantage of my complimentary massage bestowed upon me by the Four Seasons.

After the massage, Joe and I readied ourselves for lunch. Our Condé Nast Traveler trip specialist, Maita Barrenechea, arranged for us to meet up with her family, which was a lovely experience.

Following our meal, we visited the Evita Museum to understand more of the dynamics of her life and legacy. Afterward, our driver paraded us through various areas of Palermo to view the charming cafes.

Two to Tango in Style

Written by Jenny Kerr

Saturday, 12 January 2013 00:00 - Last Updated Sunday, 13 January 2013 20:50

Two to Tango in Style

Written by Jenny Kerr

Saturday, 12 January 2013 00:00 - Last Updated Sunday, 13 January 2013 20:50

Two to Tango in Style

Written by Jenny Kerr

Saturday, 12 January 2013 00:00 - Last Updated Sunday, 13 January 2013 20:50

Some of the best Argentine tango in the world is found in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Some of the best Argentine tango in the world is found in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Some of the best Argentine tango in the world is found in Buenos Aires, Argentina. Some of the best Argentine tango in the world is found in Buenos Aires, Argentina.