It's summertime and the living is easy...which means it's once again time for the free Concerts in the Park series by the world-rekowned Cincinnati Pops orchestra .

Established in 1977 by the late legendary conductor Erich Kunzel , the Pops has long been regarded as one of the finest musical assemblies in the country. Their recordings have topped musical charts worldwide, even earning them the honor of being the only American orchestra invited to perform at the 2008 Olympic games in Beijing.

Currently led by esteemed yet fun-loving conductor John Morris Russell, the Cincinnati Pops Orchestra plays an exciting program that piques the interest of every age group, ranging from timely Olympic themes to patriotic tunes, arias, classical pieces and show tunes. My sister Jenny and I decided to pack a few snacks and relish a relaxing evening reclining on the lawn of a local park with the highest quality live music around.
